

METROMIX

CLEVELAND

Q&A: Adam Heart

A sight for the eyes and the ears

By Katie Stevenson

Metromix

May 26, 2009

Adam Heart, who calls his artistry "the culmination of musical interest and chemical imbalance," is a sight for the eyes and the ears. Dressed in platform shoes and rainbow knee-high socks, Adam is sure to grab the attention of everyone in the room. With an ever-changing line-up of songs and his costumed backing band "Children of Light," Adam is sure to have something up his sleeve to please all musical tastes. Look for a new record coming out on Halloween.

You have traveled all over the world, what makes Cleveland special?

Well, it's where I eventually ended up. It's not too bad. I like the country side of things in Ohio. Cleveland is the Mecca if you live in Ohio and you need to find some good music. Cleveland is the place to be. I moved to the states with my parents and then ended up in Cleveland through the music.

Where was your first performance in Cleveland?

The Beachland Ballroom and Tavern

Where is your favorite place to perform in Cleveland?

The Beachland of course!

You have an upcoming album. What can fans expect from that?

It's going to be an orgasm of sight and sound. It's going to be released on Halloween—appropriate. There are going to be lots of little extras. There is going to be a big show. I am gonna bring in a lot of actors and back-up people. It's going to be a big production.

Where is you favorite spot to visit Cleveland?

I am kind of a homebody. I visit the Beachland occasionally; I have been to the Grog a couple of times. I go to a lot of shows to see friends of mine, so wherever they are performing.

REVERSED IMAGE
UNLIMITED